

BACKGROUND GUIDE FOR IP PHOTOJOURNALISM

Greetings Members of the International Press!

We welcome you to the International Press Committee of YUGEN 6.0.

The International Press is an often-overlooked yet highly esteemed and essential committee. As a member of the International Press, whether as a reporter or photojournalist, your role is to act as a bridge between the conference and the wider public.

You are entrusted with the responsibility of conveying not only facts and briefings but also compelling stories that highlight the significance of diplomacy.

On behalf of the Secretariat and the Executive Board, we extend our warmest regards and wish each of you the very best as members of the International Press.

Thank you.

Shreyal Kothapalli (Head of International Press)

Tvisha Nahata (Director of Photography)

"When journalism is undermined, crises become far more difficult to prevent and resolve. All freedom depends on press freedom."

3. Portraits

Additional photojournalism submissions may be introduced during committee proceedings

Marking Scheme

All photojournalism submissions will be evaluated on the basis of the following parameters.

- Clarity
- Submission relevance
- Framing
- Meaning

REQUIREMENTS OF THE DAY

- Camera charged
- Spare battery available (charging points are available, but its preferable to have a spare)
- Memory card available
- Camera settings checked

The objective is not to photograph every person equally in isolation.

Instead, photographers should create a collection of images that tells the story of the committee.

For example, a strong photo set may show:

A delegate delivering a passionate speech → other delegates reacting → delegates negotiating during an unmoderated caucus → the committee returning to formal debate.

Do NOT hesitate while having queries. Any discomfort you have or any issues that come up, do NOT be afraid. Let us know immediately, and we will do our best to help you out.

All the best.
